Coverage Contract Provides 24-Hour Emergency Service At Southside Hospital

J. B. Towler, administrator at Southside Community Hospital in Farmville, has announced that the hospital has finalized a contract with Dr. Robert F. Byrne and Community Physicians, Inc. to provide full-time (24-hour) physician coverage at the hospital's emergency department.

Also included in the contract are provisions for the establishment of a family practice center within the hospital for the entire community.

The contract with Community Physicians, Inc. is to take effect January 1, 1979, and at that time 24-hour coverage for the emergency department will begin.

By the first of the year one doctor with Community Physicians Inc. will be in Farmville to begin the full-time emergency room coverage. Within six months, three physicians and their families will have located there and by the end of the first year of operation, there will be four physicians stationed at the hospital, providing 24 -hour ER coverage and seeing patients in the hospital's proposed family practice center.

The potential for growth in the Farmville area was a major factor in the decision. The need for the services and the steps currently being taken to update the hospital's facilities lend itself to this type of practice.

Southside Community Hospital serves the counties of Prince Edward, Buckingham, Cumberland, Charlotte, Nottoway, Amelia, and parts of Appomattox and Lunenburg.

Prepare Now for Winter

Winter has a habit of sneaking up on us, so it's wise to begin preparing as early as possible against the inevitable, cold days ahead.

General Electric's Product Service Department, which repairs and maintains GE and Hotpoint major appliances, TV and air conditioners nationwide, offers the following get-ready-for-winter checklist:

• Put clean filters in the furnace and stock up on a supply now, so you can change the filter regularly throughout the winter.

• Clean the exhaust vent on your dryer to remove accumulated dust and lint. It'll increase dryer efficiency and reduce a potential fire hazard.

• Check your range heaters. Product service repairmen tell us they get a lot of range service calls at this time of year, when people are getting away from the charcoal grill and preparing meals indoors again. Be sure to check not only the range-top surface units, but the bake and broil units in the oven.

• Take air conditioners out of windows for storage during the winter. If you cannot take them out, then special plastic covers are a good investment.

• Check your fireplace dampers to be sure they're closed. Keep them closed until you use the fireplace. Since hot air rises, an open damper can let heating dollars go right up the chimney.

• If you remove storm windows for the summer, put them back in. If you don't have storm doors and windows, now's the time to get them.

• This is the time when many consumers spruce up their kitchens, too, in anticipation of the Christmas holidays ahead. Touch-up paint can do wonders on nicked appliances, and new drip pans and trim rings under the range surface units can make a world of difference in the appearance of your range.

• If you have a furnace humidifier, now's the time to put a new evaporator element in it. Also, check the humidifier water valves; they can get plugged with sediment after being closed all summer.

A little effort now to "tighten up" and spruce up your home will pay you back later in lowered heating bills and the smug feeling that you've taken care of your home and family. †

There are 974 television stations in the U.S. An estimated 72,900,000 TVs are owned by Americans.

Although early TV sets' screens rarely exceeded 10 inches, and 19-inch and 25-inch screens are popular today, a TV with a giant-sized screen of 1,000-plus square inches (three times the size of a 25-inch screen) has been introduced by General Electric. Called the Widescreen 1000 Home Television Theatre, it features VIR Broadcast Controlled Color, remote-control tuning and dual speakers with improved sound.

Fashion FORECASTS

WHAT TO EXPECT

Make No Mistake: This Is The Year Of The Woman

Silks and satins, buttons and bows--and, at last, you can once again tell a lady by the cut of her clothes.

AN ENCHANTED EVENING merits a magical outfit.

The look for fall is more frankly feminine than it has been in many years: You'll be able to array yourself in cling-ing fabrics, soft fullness and drapes with slender, elegant sandals at the tips of your toes.

Resplendently emerging from a long eclipse are dresses, pajamas and skirts that were born for candlelight. In James Daugherty's fall collection, evening is pure fantasy in a bias-cut velvet pajama. The color of frost-etched heather, the legs are banded with fake fur and topped by a blending satin blouse with a gently elongated "U" neckline and full, romantic sleeves.

Sensuous and luxurious, the bottle-green velvet dirndl (right) is trimmed in deep, fake fur and complemented by a soft, chinaberry red blouse with a bateau neckline.

The look of evening this year is distinctively different from the look of day. Tuck your casual and primly tailored ensembles in for the night--then treat yourself to a transformation.

House Receives Fidelity Promotion

William J. Vinson, Jr. has been named vice president and manager of Fidelity American Bank's office in Amherst, according to an announcement by Lewis B. Goode, Jr., president. The Appomattox Woman's Club, meeting on Monday evening, November 6, enjoyed a program that was both interesting and informative. Mrs. Pat Trimyer of Pamplin gave a talk and demonstration on making Christmas decorations for the home. Mrs. Trimyer is shown as she combines fresh evergreens with fresh flowers to create a beautiful arrangement in a hurricane globe.

Shown above are some of the arrangements created by Mrs. Trimyer. She emphasized that every room should have something created especially for that particular room, carrying the Christmas theme throughout the entire house.
